

EAST PAKISTAN

There is never enough grass or grain to feed the cattle. Since they may not be killed they simply die of old age or disease. However the Indian farmer makes good use of their skins. Cattle hides are an important export item in southern Asia. Millions of farm families live on the fertile plains of the Ganges River. They raise rice, barley, maize and oil seeds for food. The river delta where heavy rains flood the land is ideal for planting rice. Wheat barley and grain are planted in October and harvested in February or March. Rice and millet need heat and water. They are planted in July and harvested in September. The farmer keeps what he needs to feed his family for the rest of the year.

J.C. Grade II

The eighth grade class is editing this issue of The Gulberg Flash. Staff members are as follows:

Editor.....John Saxton
 Managing Ed..Mark McHandless
 Art Editor...Pamela Lang
 Reporters....All members of the class & sch.

-* -- --

U.S. FOREIGN RELATIONS

We think that people visiting foreign countries should be more considerate of the nationals. Most people who go abroad act as if they own the world. Most of them are litter-bugs. If all of the people who went abroad acted better, the United States' Foreign Relations would be improved.

J.S.

* * * *

MY MOTHER

My mother is medium in height and has brown hair. Mommy doesn't wear glasses, and she doesn't smoke, which is one reason why she isn't sick all the time. Mommy doesn't get mad very often and when she does, it is quite mild. She has a pleasant voice and just loves to read.

R.B.

STUDENT VIEWS

Dear Editor:

I believe there is a behavior problem with most of the American children and young people here in Lahore, not only in school but outside of school also.

There are certain classes which show complete disrespect for their teachers, deliberately spiting them to annoy them.

The students misbehave out of school also, for instance, at the Air Force movies. Certain individuals enjoy destroying the furniture at the Air Force Base. The chairs are put there to sit on, and not to carve up. Unless we respect our privileges, we shall have them taken away.

I think that, on the whole, the L.A.S. Student Body leaves something to be desired.

Anonymous

MY HOBBIES

My hobbies are Reading, Stamp-collecting, and music. I enjoy reading because it is always exciting and you are usually dying to know what will happen next. When you have nothing to do you can pick up a book and it will occupy quite a few hours. The reason why I like stamp collecting is because they are pretty, they are worth a lot of money, and they are lots of fun to work with. Stamps that have scenes on them are useful to you because you get an idea of what other places look like. Also stamps need many different things which you use to work with them which is lots of fun.

Music I like because it is beautiful to hear and play. I like to see a person's hand go up in the air so gracefully! Also I like it because it is fun to read something different and to hear assortments of songs. Music relaxes a person and puts him at ease which people like their guests to be. Music is delightful to hear and play. Why don't you try? I am sure you'd love it.

R.B.